Headline:
Windy with scattered blustery showers.

Today:
Mainly dry but windy at first with variable cloud and sunny spells, but showers likely across the Pennines. Showers soon spreading east to all parts, turning heavy and blustery at times, especially in the west. Isolated thunder and hail possible. Maximum temperature 14 deg C (57 deg F).

Tonight:
Showers remaining possible overnight, particularly across western parts, with the best of the clear spells in the east. Winds only gradually easing and feeling rather cool. Minimum temperature 6 deg C (43 deg F).

Monday:
Similar to Sunday with further scattered showers, heavy and blustery at times, spreading to all parts through the morning. Isolated hail and thunder also possible. A little less windy, however. Maximum temperature 14 deg C (57 deg F).

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:
Cloud and rain spreading east Tuesday, windy at times. Rather cloudy start Wednesday, with some rain possible, but also brighter spells later. Drier Thursday, with sunny spells and variable cloud.
